

Dr. Mihai JALOBEANU

Vasile Goldis West University of Arad, Romania

Dr. Mihai JALOBEANU started his professional career as a mathematician and computer scientist in a physics research institute. His doctoral thesis is entitled "The Relational Systems and their use in Computer Science" (1977). Since 1997 he teaches courses of computer science, e-learning at Babes-Bolyai University of Cluj and Vasile Goldis University of Arad, Romania. Dr. Jalobeanu expertise includes: distance education, computers in art, communication and ethics in Internet. Mr. Mihai Jalobeanu is member of EDEN, IEEE and ACM organizations. He was member of Free Unix for Romania, too. Since 1997, together with Nic Nistor, Dr. Jalobeanu has organized "Romanian Internet Learning Workshop", as well as the workshop "Linux and Virtual Learning Environments". Dr.M.Jalobeanu is member of EDEN (European Distance Education Network), and CADE (Computers in Art & Design Education) organizations, as well as of HTML Writers Guild.

He is also an active member of the political association 'Civil Alliance' and of the academic organization 'Academia Civica', and also the Co-president of the romanian branch of the cultural association 'Polygon'. At general elections from September 1992 he activated as the head of Cluj Computer Department of Democratic Convention, controlling the election data processing. He published occasionally political and cultural comments in the Cluj newspaper 'Tribuna Ardealului', 'Monitorul de Cluj', as well as in the Agora OnLine Web publication (<http://www.agora.ro> You may find some of his recent comments (in Romanian) in his Free Opinions Web page. Among hobbies, he prefer computer art, mountain trips and sky.

Mihai JALOBEANU

URL: <http://www.itim-cj.ro/~jalobean/>